

Jason Hawkes, MD MS

Jason Hawkes is a board-certified dermatologist in Rocklin, CA, USA.

He is a councilor in the International Psoriasis Council (IPC) and serves on the Medical Board and Scientific Advisory Committee of the National Psoriasis Foundation (NPF). Dr. Hawkes is a National Institutes of Health-funded investigator, nationally recognized speaker, and the recipient of many teaching awards, including Exceptional Teacher of the Year and NPF Outstanding Educator in Psoriatic Disease.

Dr. Hawkes received his medical degree and completed his residency training at The University of Utah in Salt Lake City, Utah, USA. He also completed a fellowship in translational immunology at the National Institutes of Health (NIH) and received a master's degree in clinical investigation from The Rockefeller University (New York City, NY, USA), where he was the chief clinical scholar and principal investigator on multiple human research protocols in the Laboratory for Investigative Dermatology under Dr. Jim Krueger.

Dr. Hawkes was an associate professor and faculty member in the Departments of Dermatology at the University of California Davis, Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai, and the University of Utah.