

John Koo, MD

John Koo is a professor in the University of California San Francisco (UCSF) Medical Center Department of Dermatology and is codirector of the UCSF Psoriasis Skin and Treatment Center.

Board certified in both dermatology and psychiatry, Dr. Koo has more than 600 peer-reviewed publications. In the 2023 Newsweek Survey of more than 2,000 dermatologists in United States, he was ranked sixth in the nation and first on the West Coast. Dr. Koo received the Herman Muscaph award for Psychodermatology from the International Society of Psychodermatology in 2025.

After graduating from Harvard Medical School, Dr. Koo finished his dermatology residency at University of California San Francisco Medical Center and psychiatry residency at UCLA Neuropsychiatric Institute