

Ellen R Sher, MD, FAAAAI, CPI is board certified by the ABIM and ABAI and a physician at Allergy Partners of NJ, PC. Dr. Sher is Section Chief of Allergy & Immunology at Monmouth Medical Center and a Clinical Assistant Professor of Medicine at Rutgers Robert Wood Johnson Medical School. Since 2002, Dr. Sher has been consistently selected by her peers as one of the "Top Docs" in NJ Monthly Magazine, Castle Connolly Top Doctors in NY Metropolitan area and Best Doctors in America.

Dr. Sher earned her medical degree at Georgetown University School of Medicine in Washington, DC. She completed a residency in internal medicine at Thomas Jefferson University Hospital in Philadelphia where she was also a fellow in pulmonary medicine. She went on to complete her fellowship training in allergy & immunology at the renowned National Jewish Medical and Research Center in Denver, Colorado.

Dr. Sher is a practicing allergist in Ocean, NJ where she not only sees patients but also heads up the clinical trial division. Dr. Sher has served as Principal Investigator in over 150 clinical research trials in food allergy, asthma, allergies, chronic sinusitis, chronic cough, chronic pruritis, chronic urticaria, eosinophilic esophagitis and COPD. She has published numerous articles on allergy, asthma & immunology. She actively participates in the education of physicians and fellows through presentations at national congress meetings as well as teaching and mentoring students and residents during rotations in her practice. She serves on several committees for the AAAAI and ACAAI and is currently the Chair of the Allergic Skin Diseases Committee of the AAAAI. She is also past president of the NJ Allergy, Asthma & Immunology Society.